Dedication

Why would a man spend thirty-two years working with young people? There is but one answer—he admires young people and looks toward the future that they will build. To put such admiration and dedication to use, he must also have a sincere interest in student activities, an immense store of patience, and a kind but firm hand when a student needs guidance or reproof. He needs an undeviating faith in the ability of each student to accept responsibility, to assume leadership, and to achieve the best in everything while at school. All these qualities and many more belong to our Commandant. It is in appreciation of his loyalty and devotion that we respectfully dedicate the 1965 Kadet to

Prologue

Cadets enjoy a whirl of activities revolving around the campus. From the excitement of registration to the thrill and climax of graduation, our days at Peacock are filled with many pleasant moments. Whether we are studying, marching, exercising or dating, cadets are living challenging lives. Peacock provides for a future and a Life Unlimited.

Cadets Parker, Powell, R. Edwards, Hawkins, M. Brovey and Woods, our only six year cadets, relax in the Student Lounge.
